Subject: Government Committees

Hey Howard,

I've looked at the government committees, Ethics & Standards come under the Public Administration Select Committee.

The Public Administration Select Committee was established by the House of Commons in June 2010 for the duration of the 2010-2015 Parliament. Its remit was to consider matters relating to the quality and standards of administration within the Civil Service.

On 3 June 2015 the House of Commons approved changes to Standing Orders to establish a Public Administration and Constitutional Affairs Committee with a remit to examine:

- a) reports of the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman and connected matters
- b) the quality of civil service administration and other related matters
- c) constitutional affairs.

The Public Administration Select Committee (PASC) examines the quality and standards of administration within the Civil Service and scrutinises the reports of the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman.

We are a committee of Members of Parliament appointed by the House of Commons and drawn from the three largest political parties. We work principally by undertaking inquiries. We choose our own subjects of inquiry and seek evidence from a wide range of groups and individuals with relevant interests and experience. We produce reports setting out our findings and making recommendations to the Government. We monitor complaints about the Ombudsman as a way of scrutinising the work of her office and identifying systemic problems, but we will not consider individual cases.

Dear Amanda

Mrs Chapman has not sent me any of the paperwork I requested in the legal time frame . I would like to register my formal complaint to the new Regulator of this Maladministration . This it would seem ,from previous experience , is common place at the Gcc and a poor example for my profession.

I have Whistle blown to two regulators and at least two chairs over a 6 year period . We are well past that and onto perverting justice . Please send details of the chairs appeals process so I can contest her letter of the 12 march which is a continuation of the coverup from her predecessor . I also have to ask why she has not brought the police in to investigate properly .
