Dear Prime Minister,

I am waiting patiently for a response from Mrs May, yourself, and two Attorney Generals. This is regarding the subject of child abuse by the system through deliberate non-diagnosis, in order to save money, going back to Labour under Tony Blair. This is a deliberate act as seen from the Parliamentary paperwork up on the justice for autism website.

You and the others had the power to change and stop this wholesale abuse but clearly have decided to ignore it and tough it out. We are not on the playing fields of Eton; this is reality. Real people have been damaged by the tens of thousands. Yet if you block the investigation, nothing can happen.

Maybe when you send me details of your complaints procedure, you can drop me a line and explain to me why you decided to do nothing.

Yours expectantly,

Howard Lamb
