Dear Alexandra Bailey,

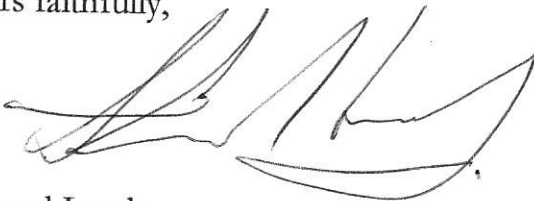

Thank you for your overdue response.

I would like to point out that the three letters mentioned are just part of my communications. I expect Sir Mark Rowleys office supplied all materials after I put in a complaint (not dealt with) regarding breaches of protocols and procedure, as such not a criminal offence, but maladministration. If not forwarded to you, that would be a further offence.

If the paperwork has vanished, I have the originals and the system response saying it had been received and was being dealt with.

Please confirm what paperwork you have received to date, and we can start to get to the bottom of it, so to speak.

Yours faithfully,

Howard Lamb
