To the Right Honourable Sir Keir Starmer KCB KC PM,

Dear Prime Minister,

Please read my bundle of letters to previous PM's.

I diagnosed a child with autism, ADHD and post-traumatic stress due to his handling by the system. A very complex child.

When young, he was put at risk by being wrongly diagnosed and forced into mainstream education with no help. It did not go well for him and for countless others in the same situation. Blamed as naughty with bad parenting, he was restrained, bullied and frequently attacked by peers and verbally abused by staff.

After my diagnosis in 2011, which was ignored, I and the family took the council to an educational tribunal. The mother had drawn back all paperwork, so we had a cast iron case. The council wanted to foster him (the cheap option). Luckily the mother had the original paperwork, and they were caught falsifying information to the court. They had to concede the case and face the wrath of the judge. His judgement was clear. Social services and education had him treated as a naughty boy and never paid the correct sum of money to the placement, so the judgment was not complied with.

Not surprisingly the placement failed. He ended out on the street, a long way from his home, before 18. When the judgment said he should be cared for until at least 23 and beyond.

How is it possible that any of this happened at all. Where were the safeguards and oversight. An independent complaints procedure, police investigation in to abuse.

It would seem, that successive governments have removed their human rights so they have no voice and can be abused at will. That is after signing up for the UNCRC convention on the rights of children.

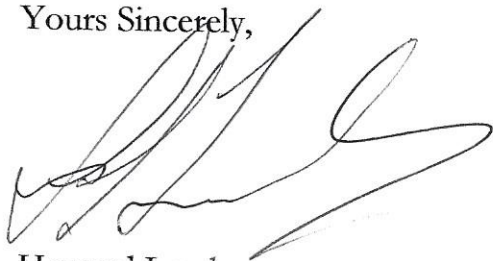

The clear cover up to save money and reputation to the disadvantage of children with special needs is a disgrace and needs to be corrected.

Further cover up is not an option.

I will supply any further information on request.

Any help you could give these children, now adults, I am sure would be greatly appreciated.

Yours Sincerely,
